- iii. "Notes:" This is where you describe the work in greater detail, what's known as the scope of work.

- 1. Keep in mind, what's being permitted is what's written here in this scope or work, not what may necessarily appear on the plans. (If something appears on the plans but isn't included within the written scope-of-work then it's not permitted.)

- a. Each structure requires its own permits. If you Include work in this description that involves multiple buildings, the application will be returned.
- b. Each discipline requires its own permits (plumbing, electrical, mechanical, fence, construction, etc.)

- iv. Enter the "Job Value"

8. Step 2 - Contact Information

- a. Complete all the fields. Accurate telephone numbers and e-mail addresses must be entered, or the application will be returned for corrections.
 - i. Zip Code Field Problem: There’s a glitch with this field. It only shows four of the five digits for the zip code. All five digits are actually there, but you can’t see them until you put your cursor in the field and use the arrow keys to move left & right within that field. (We’re trying to get the software company to fix this glitch.)
- b. Qualifier Information: Re-enter (copy & paste) your own information. In this instance, you are your own Qualifier.
- c. Contractor Information: Re-enter you own information. In this instance, you are your own contractor.
 - i. Hopefully, your info has already populated in these fields. This is why earlier we had you select both checkboxes for “Property Owner” & “Contractor.
 - ii. Important: In the required “License or ID” field type anything. (It needs an entry to proceed to the next step.)
- d. Click “Next Step”
